

As I Go

If I should wake before I die pray tell me only where I lie of melodies sweet a hummingbirds treat and gems sparkling in the sky.

If I should wake before life's complete Lull me back to restful sleep
To dream of days far away
When I would run, skip and play
The folly of insightful lass.

If I should wake before life's end
Have at my side the sweetest friend To recall evenings of delight dancing under moon's shimmery light facing tomorrow full of hope.

If I should wake before I die
please don't dare breathe a sigh just turn and give a tender smile sending me that one last mile
As I go so silently.

April 2, 2009